PROJECT NARRATIVE

a. Need

The City of Davis Community Mediation & Fair Housing Services Program addresses significant civil rights and conflict resolution needs of Davis residents while ensuring the City's compliance with the requirements of the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) and Housing Investment Partnerships Program (HOME). The primary services provided by Community Mediation & Fair Housing Services are: 1) Education and outreach about fair housing and tenant/landowner issues; 2) Fair housing complaint intake, mediation, investigation, assessment and referral; 3) Assessment of barriers to fair housing choice; and 4) Monitoring sub-recipient compliance with fair employment and housing guidelines and regulations. During the 2007-2008 fiscal year Community Mediation & Fair Housing Services achieved several significant accomplishments:

- Conducted intake, assessment, consultation, referral and mediation of over 400 new mediation and fair housing cases during the first six months of the fiscal year.
- Conducted one Fair Housing Training Seminar for renters and rental housing providers.
- Conducted one Fair Housing and Mediation based conflict resolution services presentation to new University of California at Davis international students and scholars.
- Provided facilitation services and conflict resolution technical assistance to non-profit community organizations and tenant groups.
- Initiated Mediation and Fair Housing program evaluation.
- Participated in community outreach and education events including UCD Housing Expo, International Student Scholar Faire, City sponsored faire, "Celebrate Davis," and Chamber Day on the Quad.

b. Benefit

The proposed services and activities will largely benefit very low, low, and moderate-income households. Low-income and fixed-income families are most vulnerable in these situations as they lack the resources to finance necessary repairs themselves or to move to other housing. Low income and fixed income households will benefit most from the information and housing counseling provided by Community Mediation & Fair Housing Services staff.

Individuals on fixed incomes such as many who are elderly or disabled will benefit from information and assistance for various issues including: requests for reasonable accommodations and modifications, guidelines for ensuring accessibility, information to property managers about specific housing needs of disabled individuals, and individualized assistance with filing and resolving fair housing complaints. By providing information in different formats and on the City's web page, on audiotapes, on the telephone and in person, Davis residents will benefit from increased access to services and information.

Community Mediation & Fair Housing Services will focus on expanding its capacity to help federally protected classes learn more about recognition and prevention of housing discrimination. The proposed fair housing activities are designed to enhance and continue to provide needed services to Davis residents while fulfilling the City's obligation to affirmatively further fair housing.

c. Other Resources and Collaboration

The City of Davis Mediation & Fair Housing Services program is the primary provider of mediation-based fair housing services in Yolo County. Through the mediation-based fair housing services, the City successfully maximizes use of limited resources while providing appropriate and necessary services to the public. Community volunteers are a vital component of our program as they provide most of the direct mediation services in all fair housing and tenant/landowner cases mediated through this program. Volunteers also serve as ambassadors for the program and provide a critical link for information related to community needs. Community Mediation & Fair Housing Services complement the services provided by Legal Services of Northern California, the University of California at Davis and other social and support service providers in Yolo County.

Our mediation-based fair housing services are well recognized and individuals are referred for assistance by a variety of community organizations and City and County offices. City and County offices represent the primary referral sources of individuals seeking our services including Social Services, law enforcement agencies, code compliance and enforcement departments, University of California at Davis student groups, Yolo County Superior Court and City and County government officials.

The City's Fair Housing program will continue to collaborate with local legal professionals to provide fair housing education to Davis residents and to provide program staff with technical assistance and assessment of fair housing cases.

d. Organizational Capacity

The City's Mediation & Fair Housing Services staff skillfully develops and implements procedures for effective fair housing case management and analysis. The program functions within the city's Community Services Department. Community Mediation & Fair Housing Services has over fifteen years of experience handling fair housing issues and enjoys the support of community volunteers who contribute their time and skills in the provision of mediation services. As the primary provider of mediation-based fair housing services in Yolo County, our program is capable of continuing to meet the fair housing needs of Davis residents. In order to increase accessibility, all our services are provided in English and Spanish and can be easily accessible by telephone, internet and in person.

SCOPE OF SERVICES

Project Description

FAIR HOUSING SERVICES: There are five categories of fair housing services proposed for the 2009-2010 program year.

- Respond to Resident Inquiries: Program staff will respond to all inquiries regarding illegal housing discrimination based on race, sex, national origin, familial status, physical and mental disability, religion, and all other arbitrary forms of discrimination as defined in state, federal and local laws.
- Complaint Investigation, Assessment and Referral: Program staff will evaluate and conduct preliminary investigations of all housing discrimination complaints submitted by Davis residents. When an investigation shows evidence of illegal housing practices or policies, program staff will refer cases to Department of Housing and Urban Development and Housing and Urban Development Department for enforcement and conduct case follow up activities as needed.
- Education and Training: Various community education methods will be employed to increase public awareness of the laws and issues surrounding fair housing. These methods will include: tester training workshops, fair housing workshops and seminars, outreach activities at community events, and speaking appearances before appropriate groups and organizations.

- Technical Assistance: Fair Housing services staff will work with CDBG and HOME grantees to ensure compliance with fair employment and housing regulations.
- Mediation Services: Mediation services will be offered upon request and in all appropriate cases.
- Fair Housing Administration: Fair Housing Services staff will participate in implementation of monitoring systems to ensure City and sub-recipient compliance with all CDBG and HOME funded activities and programs.

TENANT/LAND-OWNER DISPUTE RESOLUTION:

- Information and Referral: Fair housing and related information and referral will be provided in English and Spanish upon request, on the telephone, by mail and in person.
- Mediation Services: Mediation will be offered in Spanish and English in all appropriate cases.
- Community Education and Outreach: Various community education and outreach methods will be employed to increase public awareness of fair housing and tenant/landowner rights and responsibilities. Some of the methods include participation in community events, production and distribution of printed educational materials, and training events.

Target Group

Low, very low and moderate-income households are the target population for the proposed activities. In addition, program staff assists community groups and organizations that provide services to low income households.

Outreach

Special efforts will continue to implement an outreach campaign designed to educate limited English-speaking residents, residents with disabilities, and newly relocated residents about laws against housing discrimination. Using its resource network of community and civil rights organizations, agencies and churches, along with bilingual media contacts and written materials, Community Mediation & Fair Housing Services will provide fair housing information to individuals isolated by language or other communication barriers. In addition, staff will present at least one fair housing workshop focused on informing individuals about fair housing laws and remedies.
