CITY RELEASES DRAFT MAPS FOR 2022 REDISTRICTING

Jan. 4, 2021 –The City of Davis announced today that it has released two draft maps (based on 2020 census data) for City Council redistricting that will be in effect for the November 2022 election. The maps will be presented to the City Council at its Tuesday, January 11 meeting in a public hearing.

All members of the community are encouraged to provide their feedback at this time by reviewing the redistricting draft maps posted on the City website and completing an online feedback form. The deadline for district map feedback is January 20, 2022.

In addition, individuals can provide a public comment for the City Council meeting. City Council meetings begin at 6:30 p.m. and are in remote format. The meetings can be viewed online. Check the “Agendas” tab on the City website for directions on viewing and/or providing a public comment.

Redistricting draft maps and the feedback form can be viewed online at: www.cityofdavis.org/districts and comments can be emailed to: districts@cityofdavis.org

Previously, two public hearings on 2022 redistricting were held on November 2, 2021, and December 7, 2021. A public district map workshop was held on December 13, 2021. At its February 1 meeting, the Council will select the final maps and will adopt them formally at its meeting on February 15.

In fall of 2019, the City converted from an at-large election system for its City Council elections to a by-district system. In November 2020, elections in Districts 2, 3 and 5 took place. In November 2022, elections in Districts 1 and 4 will take place, completing the full transition to district-based elections. Yolo County and the Davis Joint Unified School District will have different district boundaries than the City of Davis.
